GUNTUR.

A District in the Madras Presidency. It is bounded on the north by the river Kistna; on the south by the Nellore District; on the east by the River Kistna and the Bay of Bengal; and on the west by the Nellore and Karnool Districts and the River Kistna. Area, 5,785 sq. miles. Population, 1,809,574. Population of the town 251,928. Languages spoken: Telugu and Hindustani.

Chirala Municipality is comprised of the two revenue villages of Perala and Chirala. Its population is 5,828, situated about 4 miles from the sea coast on the M. & S. M. Ry. This town is one of the great centres of cloth manufacture, exporting direct to Bombay, Aden, and other distant places. In 1920 it was constituted into a Municipality, against the strong opinion of the residents of the place, who, subsequently, as a mark of Protest went and lived outside the Municipality.

HYDERABAD (DECCAN).

H. H. THE NIZAM'S DOMINIONS.

The Dominions of His Highness the Nizam lie between 15° 10' and 21° 40' North latitude and between 74° 40' and 81° 85' East longitude.

They occupy a tract, 82,698 square miles in area, in the central portion of the tableland of the Dekhan, which, in the generally accepted sense of the term, refers to that portion of Southern India which is bounded on the north and south by the Nerbudda and the Kistna, and laterally by the Eastern and Western Ghâts. The Dominions are bounded on the north by the district of Khandesh and the river Tapti, which separates them from the district of Burhampur in the Bombay Presidency, and the south by the rivers Tungabhadra and Kistna, forming the northern boundary of the districts of Bellary, Kurnool and Guntur, and by the district of Kistna, all in the Madras Presidency; on the east by the rivers Wardha and Godavari, which flow along the western limits of the districts of Chanda and Sironcha, in the Central Provinces; and on the west by the districts of Dharwar, Kaladgi, Sholapur and Ahmednagar, all in the Bombay Presidency. A portion of the river Sina also forms the western boundary of the Nizam's Dominions, but the taluks of Jamker, Barsi and a part of Kaigam, all in British territory, are to the east of that river. Similarly, a part of the river Godavari separates the Nizam's Dominions on the west from British territory; but a few of the Nizam's villages are beyond that river. The languages spoken in the Dominions are Hindustani, Telugu, Canarese and Mahrathi.

Physical Features.—The Dominions are a vast plateau of an average elevation of 1,250 feet, though some summits reach 2,500 feet above sea-level. The country is geologically and ethnologically divided into two large and almost equal divisions. The Godavari and the Manjira rivers separate these. The first of these divisions consists of regions of trappean rocks to the north and west, and the other to the south-east is composed of granite and limestone. The former is inhabited by the Mahratta and Kanarese people, whose staple food is wheat and jawari; and the latter is peopled by the Telugus, who subsist chiefly on rice. In this granitic and calcareous region, hills nude of vegetation, brushwood of every description scattered in profusion, detached perpendicular rocks and collections or masses of boulders, which seem to be piled by giant hands, are not scarce. The soil, where formed from the decomposition of these rocks, is generally sandy and hence generally sterile. The rivers in this region, too, flow only in the rainy season. The trappean region generally presents a pleasing aspect with its luxurious vegetation and its crags, cliffs and hills. The soil derived from the decomposition of this formation—the ordinary black cotton soil and regar—is productive, fertile and impervious. Thus, while the granitic region is suggestive of sterility, the trappean region is synonymous with fertility. Thick jungles and forests are met with, mostly in the valleys of rivers, especially those of the Wardha, the Godavari and the Kistna. There is carboniferous sandstone along the right bank of the Godavari.

Political Divisions.—Land may be divided into distinct heads with regard to administration and collection of revenue:—

(1) Surf-i-Khas lands, assigned to the Sovereign in lieu of cash payments from the public treasury, comprising an area of 7,113 square miles. They consist of an entire district surrounding Hyderabad City (Atraf-i-Balda), two taluks in Aurangabad District, one each in Bhir, Parbhani and Bidar Districts, three in Osmanabad District, three in Gulbarga District, and a few scattered villages. The revenue from these exceeds 41 lakhs of rupees.

(2) Paigah lands, assigned by the Nizam Ali Khan Asaf Jah to Shamsul-Umra Amir-i-Kabir for the maintenance of a body of horse, called "His Highness' Household Troops," comprising about 4,134 square miles.

(3) Khalsa lands, or Divani territory, divided, for administrative purposes, into four Subas, or divisions, which are further sub-divided into districts.

Jaghirs.—As far back as the time of Tamerlane, it had been the custom to bestow jagirs as royal presents upon those who had in any way distinguished themselves by their services to the State. The Jagirs were granted either free of rent, for perpetuity, for life or on condition of rendering military service when required, &c. The jagirdars do not pay any fixed annual tribute to the Government. But those who used to pay Chouth (or a fourth part of their revenue) to the late Mahratta Peshwas, continue to pay the amount to the Nizam's Government from the time they came under it. The jagirs extend over 11,000 square miles, and many jagir villages are scattered over the Government territory

Tributary Chiefs.—The principal tributary chiefs are the Rajahs of Gudwal, Wanparti, Aunagundi, Gopalpet, Amarchinta, and Javalgiri. They hold small tracts of country and pay tribute to the Nizam's Government, ranging from Rs. 25,000 to Rs. 1,50,000 per annum.

Commerce.—The principal imports are: sugar, salt, glass, Englishware, piece-goods, spirits, hardware and cutlery, coffee, tea, saltpetre, mercury, opium, camphor and musk. The exports are: carpets, muslins, coal, grain, oilseeds, cotton, honey, wax, coarse woollen cloth and timber.

Industries.—The bulk of the people are engaged in agriculture. The principal manufactures in the country are: steel, manufactured out of iron ores, and once used for making swords and spear heads, carpets and rugs made at Warangal kinkhab, or gold and silver cloth, plain and embroidered muslins, brocades of coloured silk with gold and silver thread, tassa silk, saltpetre, Persian paper and pottery, and bidriware, which is made of an alloy of copper, lead, and tin, or zinc, and inlaid with floral and other decoration in gold or silver.

The Cave Temples of Ellora.—These cave temples are the largest and most varied of the rock temples in India, and contain some of the finest specimens of Buddhist, Brahmanic and Jaina temples. The village of Ellora is situated about 14 miles to the north-west of Aurangabad, and about 6 miles from Daulatabad, a station on the Nizam's Guaranteed Railway line. There is no bungalow at Ellora; close by, at Roza, there is a luxuriously furnished Guest House, maintained by His Highness the Nizam's Government. The caves are excavated in the scarp of a large plateau and run nearly north and south for a mile and a quarter. At each end, the scarp throws out a horn to the west. The oldest caves, the Buddhistic, are situated at the south end, at the point where the scarp begins to turn to the west. At the other extremity and in the north horn are the Jaina-caves, while the Brahmanic group is between the two. Taking the Kailasa as the centre, 16 caves lie to the south of it, 14 of which are Buddhist—and nearly as many to the north of it are Brahmanic and Jaina. The Buddhist caves of Ellora are all of the Mahayana group, and range in time from 350 to 550 A.D.

Ajunta Caves.—The celebrated Buddhist caves at Ajunta in the Aurangabad District are situated in the Indyadri hills, 4 miles to the north-west of the village. The paintings in the caves comprise scenes of every-day life, such as preparing food, carrying water, buying and selling provisions, hunting scenes, elephant fights, men and women engaged in singing, dancing and playing on musical instruments most vigorously painted upon the walls. Some of the earlier paintings are probably as old as the second century of the Christian era, the majority belonging to the sixth and seventh centuries.

The hill fort of Golcondah was formerly the seat of Government, and in the fort as well as near it are the far-famed tombs of Golcondah, a series of splendid mausoleums built in oriental style over the departed Sovereigns and Princes of the Golcondah dynasty. The tombs are greatly admired for their extent and beauty.

Climate, &c.—The climate may be said to be good, for it is pleasant and agreeable during the greater part of the year, being between extreme heat and cold. As the country is usually hilly the hot winds are not felt so keenly as in places where there are great sandy arid plains. It is only the south-west monsoon which sets in, in June, and continues till October, that is of any importance whatever to the country, the average rainfall during this monsoon being 30 inches. The rainfall during the south-east monsoon is scanty, and of little benefit to the country, the average being from 4 to 8 inches. Westerly winds blow from June to September, when they change for an easterly direction from October to February; and during March, April and May the winds are north-westerly. The Western Ghats do, in a measure, interfere with the volume of rain that might otherwise fall, but immediately the rain passes the ghats, it increases again, though very gradually.

Hyderabad is the Capital of the Nizam's territories and the seat of Government. It is situated within six miles from the Fort of Golcondah. Its distance from Calcutta is about 1,220 miles, from Madras 460, and from Bombay 470 miles. The City is approached by numerous bridges, gates and posterns, it being surrounded by a stone wall, which is in a weak and ruined state. Great improvements have been effected by widening the streets in several parts, and many sanitary arrangements have been introduced.

The following are among numerous buildings at Hyderabad worthy of a visit:—

His Highness' Palaces, namely:—Purani Haveli, Chow Mahalla; Baradari; Sirdar Villa at Malakpet and Faluknamah Castle. The Golconda Fort and Tombs; Char Minar; Mecca Musjid; Bashir Bagh; Asmangarh; Sururnagar the Victoria Memorial Orphanage; Shapurwadi; and the Public Gardens.

The British Residency, Chudderghat.

The building in which the British Resident resides is called by this name. It is an elegant edifice in spacious grounds, and is enclosed by a high wall with bastions at the entrance gates. It is situated just north of the City of Hyderabad, the River Musi running in the intervening space.

In the right and left of the building are handsome wings, each containing accommodation sufficient for a large number of guests. The building is handsomely furnished, and has been described as "Oriental only in its magnificence, but perfectly English in its comforts." Opposite the front of the building, which is the entrance for European visitors or noblemen of Hyderabad, is a fine flower garden choicely laid out. In the compound are good houses for the First and Second Assistant Residents, and Escort officer and office accommodation for the Administrative, Printing, Treasury, Judicial, and Persian Departments. At one end of the compound are barracks for the detachment of Cavalry, and Company of Native Infantry, which form the Resident's Escort, under the command of a European Commissioned Officer. There are an old, but disused, burial ground, a Racquet Court and Croquet Ground within the Residency compound. The Hyderabad Telegraph Office is situated within the Residency walls and an Imperial Branch Post Office. The Branch of the Bank of Bengal is close by.

Surrounding the Residency are a number of populous Bazaars, embracing an area of about a square mile, over which the Resident exercises jurisdiction, both in Civil and Criminal matters.

Rules for Entering the City of Hyderabad.

Officers and other Europeans belonging to the District are prohibited from visiting the City of Hyderabad, or the Fort or Tombs of Golconda, without permission from the Resident, to be obtained by application through Staff Officers of Brigades. As it is usual to send intimation of all such visits beforehand to H. H. the Nizam's Government and obtain its assent for them, each application should, as a rule, reach the First Assistant Resident four days before the proposed visit.

Secunderabad.

Secunderabad (named after the Nizam Sikandur Jah) is the largest Military Station in India and is situated 6 miles north-east of Hyderabad City. It is the Winter Head-quarters of the IXth Secunderabad Division of the Army.

The Military Force stationed here consists of one Regiment of European and of Native Cavalry, one Battery of Royal Horse Artillery, three Batteries of Royal Artillery (Field and Garrison), two Regiments of British and three of Native Infantry, with a Company of Sappers and Miners. An Ordnance Establishment has charge of the Arsenal, and there is also a large Supply and Transport Staff. Cantonment boundaries extend as far as Bolarum, covering a total area of 19 square miles, including many interspersed villages. New double-storeyed barracks have been erected for the European soldiers, and the quarters for the Native troops are also comfortably built. The country for many miles around undulates into hammocks with a few out-crops of underlying rock, crossed from east to west by green-stone dikes. Shady trees line the roads of the Cantonment, otherwise the face of the country is bare, with but little depth of soil in elevated parts. Cultivation is carried on in the dips and valleys, in several of which tanks have been constructed. Immediately to the south-west of the Cantonment is a large artificial reservoir or tank known as the Hussain Sagar, about 13 miles in circumference.

The Parade ground is of great extent, upon it a Force of seven or eight thousand troops can be manœuvred with ease. Close by is the Cemetery. A short distance from Secunderabad is the Cantonment of Trimulgherry, containing an entrenched camp. At Trimulgherry is the Military Prison, nicknamed "Windsor Castle." Adjoining Secunderabad Cantonment to the north is Bolarum Cantonment. Here are stationed a Regiment of Cavalry, and one of Infantry.

KADUR—(Mysore State).

A District, forming the South-Western portion of the Nagar Division, lying between 13° 12′ and 13° 58′ Lat., and between 75° 8′ and 76° 25′ E. Long. It is bounded on the West by the Western Ghats; on the North by Shimoga; on the East by Chitaldrug and on the South by Hassan. Area, 2,294 square miles. Languages spoken:—Canarese and Hindustani.

Taluks.—Chickmagalur, Kadur, Koppa, Mudgere and Tarikere. (Sub-Taluk) Narasimharajapura.

The chief town of the District is Chikmagalur. The District contains the loftiest range on the Mysore tableland, the Baba Buden Hills, a horse-shoe shaped chain, forming a ridge 6,000 feet above sea-level, and containing a large number of Coffee and other estates. The Kalhatti Peak, 6,155 feet high, has on its summit a bungalow, which is a favourite hot weather resort. Tiger, Sambhar and other large game are found in these hills. Chikmagalur is 25 miles from the Kadur Station of the M. & S. M. Railway. The main street of the town is one and a half miles long, and there are many Muhammadan traders. At certain seasons high east winds render the town very unhealthy, but a wide belt of trees has been planted to try and mitigate this evil.

KISTNA.

A District in the Madras Presidency. It is bounded on the North by the Nizam's Dominions and the Godavari District; on the East by the Godavari River and the Bay of Bengal; on the South by the Bay of Bengal and the Kistna River; on the West by the Kistna River and Guntur District. Area, about 5,907 square miles. Population, 2,1?8,314.

Masulipatam one of the earliest settlements of the English on the Coromandal Coast, is a port situated 8 miles off from the sea connected with the main railway line at Bezawada by branch. It is a Municipal Town. It is equipped with pipe system. There is a Municipal Travellers' Bungalow besides other choultries managed by private bodies.

The town has an area of 20 square miles with a population of 43,940 being the 2nd largest in extent in the Madras Presidency and has a beautiful constitution. It is the Head quarters of the rich Delta District of Kistna and all District Offices are located here The Office of the Assistant Director of Survey has also been transferred to this place. The beauty of Masulipatam is the Robertson square which is situated in the heart of the town. In the centre of the square there is a good Sateo reservoir with a Column in memory of the cyclone of 1864 which devastated the town It is noted for its printed Cotton goods. It has a first Grade College, a Hindu High School and a National College and they are all run by private bodies.

KODAIKANAL (PULNEY HILLS), MADURA DISTRICT

The Pulney Hills are situated in the Madura District of the Madras Presidency. They are about 54 miles long from East to West and 15 miles broad. Including Anjinad they cover 798 square miles. The plateau has an average elevation of about 7,000 feet. Like the Nilgiris and the Shevaroys, the Pulneys consist of a mass of the charnockite series, and the general scenery is characteristic of this class of rocks. The Pulneys are connected towards the north-west with the Anamalais and towards the south with the Travancore hills.

The European settlement, KODAIKANAL, which was a very small place twenty five years ago, now contains over 140 European houses scattered over an area of about 4 square miles. Besides a number of Indian bungalows. There are native villages outside the drainage area of the Lake containing 654 huts with a population of about 40,00 This settlement was in 1899 made a Municipality to the great advantage of the station, as regards sanitation and roads The Lake, which forms the centre of the original settlement, is formed by an artificial bund erected by the late Sir Vere Levinge and covers an area of 66 acres. Its height above sea-level is 6,872 feet There is a flourishing Boat Club with a number of good boats. The lake is well-stocked with baril (Barilius gutensis) which take a fly readily. The Club, which is centrally situated, is an excellent one.

In former days considerable difficulty was experienced in getting supplies at Kodaikanal, but this is no longer the case. There are now shops with a flourishing Co operative stores with retail stores at moderate prices; beef and mutton butchers are numerous, and excellent vegetables can be obtained all through the season. Almost all the houses in the station can now be reached by driving roads, though some of them are, naturally, rather steep. There are also driving roads to " Neutral Saddle," 7 miles away at the foot of Perumal (7,826 feet where there are a few houses at an elevation of about 5,200 feet: to the "Pillar Rocks," one of the finest pieces of scenery in South India, and towards Pumbari, a hill village, 8 miles distant. Bridle paths permit of riding excursions in many other directions.

The climate of Kodaikanal is probably the best of any hill station in India. This at least was the opinion of the meteorological authorities when they fixed upon it as the site of the new solar Physics Observatory, which forms a conspicuous object on the top of Nadugipuram Hill. The only meteorological statistics available are those published in the Annual Reports of the Observatory for 1899-1900 and 1904-1905, and they are for a place nearly 800 feet above the lake. The highest shade temperature recorded was 74° in March, the lowest 40°·4 in November. In low lying places, especially near the lake, frost is not uncommon in the early mornings between November and February. The mean monthly temperatures varied only from 52°·4 in November to 59°·4 in May. One of the most striking features of the climate is the extreme dryness of the atmosphere during the early months of the year Though the annual rainfall is about 60 inches, the subsoil is so porous that even during the monsoon water never lies on the ground for any time, so muddy roads are practically unknown. During the south-west monsoon, winds are strong in exposed places, but the Lake basin is so well sheltered that this causes little inconvenience.

The usual way of coming to Kodaikanal is by rail to Kodaikanal Road Station, S. I. R., where there is a Refreshment Room and a good Travellers' bungalow. Thence by Motor Service, bullock transit or by jutka to the Tope bungalow at the foot of the ghaut (32 miles), where meals can be obtained if previous notice has been sent, thence to the top—a distance of 12 miles—the journey may be made on ponies or in chairs or doolies. The ghat road to Kodaikanal was opened to the public from the beginning of 1915. It is 30 miles long and starts from the road to Periyakulam near Gangavarpatti village. 16 miles from the Railway Station. Carts, Motor Cars and Cycles are using the road. It is safer for visitors to use the latter vehicles as carts do not traverse the fever zone quickly. The Da mar (Motor Mail Service) Company provide touring 3 seater cars, ex-driver and 30 lbs luggage from Kodaikanal Road Station to top of hill and vice versa for Rs. 60. Single seats can also be booked when available. Horses and luggage may be sent up by motor domis provided by this company, There are some private boarding houses in the station, but as these are generally well filled during the season, no visitor should risk coming up without making arrangements beforehand. There is also a Hotel which is conducted by F A. Grey rv. Stores and luggage may be sent from Kodaikanal Road Station by common carts, always waiting, at reasonable rates, and are carried up the Hills at a charge of 12 annas for 50 lbs. The wage of each bearer carrying a chair or dhooly is R1 and the hire for riding ponies is two rupees to the 6th milestone, Re. 3-0 to Shembaganur and one rupee to Kodaikanal, or Neutral Saddle whether one or two ponies are supplied for the journey.

KOLAR DISTRICT—Mysore State.

KOLAR.—A town and District Head-quarters in the Mysore State, not to be confounded with the Kolar Gold Fields (q. v.); it is 11 miles by good road from the Bowringpet Junction of the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway and connected by rail.

The town is one of great antiquity; it contains a very old temple and other interesting remains. It was the burial place of Futtah Ali, Hyder Ali's father; and his Makbara, a fine old building, is still maintained by State endowment. Hyder Ali frequently visited Kolar as a pleasure resort. North-west of the town are the Kolar Betta hills, the highest peak of which is over 4,000 ft. above sea level; the sides of the hills are mostly bare and rocky, but the top is a fine plateau, with many villages and much cultivation. There are two Cigarette factories at Bowringpet. There is a Normal and Industrial Institute attached to the American Mission.

It forms the eastern portion of the Nundidroog Division, lying between 12° 6′ and 13° 36′ N. Lat. and between 78° 5′ and 78° 35′ E. Long. It is bounded on the North and North-East by Bellary and Cuddapah; on the South-East and South by North Arcot and Salem; on the West by the Bangalore and Tumkur Districts. Area, 3,179 square miles. Languages spoken.—Telugu, Hindustani, Canarese and Tamil.

KOLAR GOLD FIELDS.

These gold fields occupy a small tract of country about sixty miles from Bangalore, in the east of the Mysore State, and east of a low ridge of hills; they stretch north and south for about 40 miles, the width varying from 1½ to 4 miles. About 40 square miles are held by the several Companies. The Gold Fields Railway connects the field with the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway by the junction at Bowringpet. About 20,000 persons are now employed on the mines, many being covenanted European miners.

The gold bearing strata has a tendency to run towards the Dharwar Gold Fields, which are probably part of the same geological formation. Power for working the mines is derived from the Cauvery Electric Power Works at Sivasamudram, whence 4,000 H. P. of electrical energy is regularly received, and arrangements are now being made to increase this to 6,000 H. P., which will probably enable the mines to do without steam power altogether. The field is almost destitute of vegetation, and the scenery is dotted and scarred over with piles of crushed and spent quartz and cyanide sand; in appearance it is a typical gold mining settlement.

The mining camps are in the Kolar District, the Head-quarters of which is Champion Reef, 9 miles from Bowringpet.

MADURA.

A District in the Madras Presidency. It is bounded on the North by Coimbatore, Trichinopoly and Tanjore; on the East and South-East by Ramnad; on the South-West by Tinnevelly; and on the West by the Travancore State. Area, 4,907 square miles. Population, 2,00 ,082. Languages:—Tamil, Telugu and Hindustani The Hill Station KODAIKANAL (q. v.) is in this District.

Virudhunagar, surrounded by hamlets of different names, known here-to-fore as Virudupatti or Viruduratti is a municipal town on the South Indian Railway, between Madura and Maniyachi. It is 373 miles from Madras and 27 miles from Madura. The History of the town is told as follows:—

Some 360 years back a challenge was offered by a warrior to the residents of this town comprising of Chokkalingapuram, Kottaipatti Alampatti and Muthuramanpatti. This warrior was in possession of a number of flags in token of having conquered many others. The challenge was accepted and in a fight the warrior was killed and his flags taken over. From then the town was known as Virudukkalvettij which name was on the station being connected with the Railway in 1875, was altered by the Railway Company into Virudupatti. In connection with the visit of the Honourable the Rajah of Panagal, Chief Minister to the Government of Madras to lay the foundation stone of the new municipal office building on the 6th, April, 1923 during the time of the first non-official Chairman of the Municipality Mr. M S P. Senthikumara Nadar the Council changed the appellation of the town by calling it as Virudhunagar.

The town which is a big cotton centre was a Union till October 1915, when it was constituted a Municipality. Aruppukottai a weaving centre about 12 miles is reached by motor-bus which meets every train at Virudupatti.

There is a Travellers' Bungalow on the great southern trunk road about a mile from the Railway Station and a Chatram within half a mile. The principal trade is cotton and cotton goods. Export is made in large quantity in dried chillies, groundnut oil, Coriander seeds and jaggery, etc. There is a local festival lasting for 10 days every year in Panguni, (March-April), when over (ten thousand) 10,000, people from all parts of the districts and its surroundings congregate.

MALABAR.

A District in the Madras Presidency. It is bounded on the North by South Canara, Coorg; on the South by Cochin and Travancore; on the East by Coorg, Mysore, the Nilgiris and Coimbatore; and on the West by the sea. Area, 5,792 square miles. Population, 3,098,871. Language spoken: – Malayalam.

Tellicherry is one of the oldest of the East India Company's Settlements being the capital of North Malabar. Dt Court, Sub Court, Sub-Collector's Office and similar public offices are situated in this town From a commercial point of view the town stands second to none in North Malabar, and many European firms existing afford labour to poor people in the town and its suburbs. A second grade Government College originated from the Ziba School founded and mainta ned by the late Mr Brennen's Endowment is the chief educational institution in the town The town will grow further in importance if it is connected with up countries by railway. Want of a pier was greatly felt, and one has been recently put up.

MANGALORE—SEAPORT (SEE SOUTH CANARA).

MASULIPATAM—SEAPORT (SEE KISTNA).

MERCARA—(SEE COORG).

MYSORE DISTRICT—(MYSORE STATE).

A District in the South of the State situated between 11°-36′ and 13°-35′ and 75°-76′ and 77°-24′ E. Long. It is bounded on the North by Hassan and Tumkur Districts; East by Bangalore District and the Madras District of Coimbatore; South by the Nilgiri and Malabar Collectorates and West by Coorg. Languages spoken.—Canarese, Hindustani, Tamil, Marathi, English and Telugu, Canarese beirg the language of the country—Telugu ranking next among the vernaculars.

Head-quarters: MYSORE TOWN.

The Head-quarters of the State Departments are at Bangalore. Mysore, the titular Capital of the Native State of the same name, is situated on the north-western side of the Chamundi Hills. It is 86 miles by rail from Bangalore. The town has been much improved of late years, and the newer portion of it (called after the late Maharaja), Chamarajpoora, and other extensions have more than doubled its area in the past few years.

The Public Offices are to the west of the town in the Gordon Park. Near these are the Maharani's College, the Law Courts, the Maharajah's College and Roman Catholic Church. The fine Curzon Park was opened in 1902, just before the installation of the Maharajah. It is beautifully laid out with shady walks and nooks, parterres and fountains. It extends along the northern and western sides of the old Fort. Near the Park enclosure are the Club, Town and Masonic Halls, Post and Telegraph offices, etc. There is a Hotel, "the Gordon," and an Anglican Church, "St. Bartholomew's". The fine new Palace of the Maharajah is within the Fort and well worthy of a visit. The building is Hindu in design, and, with the exception of some fine pictures, shows little of the influence of European art. The front contains a very fine Durbar Hall. The summer palace is east of the Fort. Near by are the Maharajah's stables and a good Zoological Garden, in which is a well planned "maze." The Race Course, one of the best in Southern India, is near the foot of the hill, in its centre is the Polo ground. European residents mostly live to the east of the town. The old Government House is now a guest house for European visitors. Near it is the house which was, for some years, occupied by the first Duke of Wellington, then Colonel Wellesley.

In the easternmost portion of the city, and on the motor road to the top of the Chamundi Hills is the artistically laid out Narasimharaja boulevards. The road from here to the south leads to the beautifully laid out Hardinge circle with greens, and good lights in the evening decorating it.

MYSORE STATE (THE).

The capital of the Province and the residence of H. H. the Maharaja is situated in 2° 18' N. Lat., and 76° 42' E. Long. at the north-western base of the Chamundi Hills It includes three suburbs, and embraces an area of about 3 square miles. The town is built in a valley formed by two ridges running north and south. There is also a slight ascent on the northern side, so that the town is almost in a basin. The houses of the European residents are to the east of the town. The front portion of the Residency was built by Colonel Wilks at the beginning of the present century, and is in the Doric Order of Architecture. The back was added a few years later by Sir John Malcolm, and contains a fine Banqueting Hall. A new suburb has sprung up to the west at the village of Kookerhulli. A grand new Palace and Durbar Hall and several houses have been recently built, roads nicely laid out, and the whole place made bright and cheerful. The Zoological Gardens are especially well kept.

Fauna.—The wealth of the animal kingdom in the Mysore State can be most conveniently illustrated by naming the animals to be met with in each of the districts of the country. In the Bangalore District there are the tiger, deer, cheetah or panther, wild hog, porcupine, bear, jackal, buffalo and wild cat. The larger game is mostly confined to the Magadi, Kankanhalli and Closepet taluks. Among birds are the jungle fowl, pea-fowl and spur-fowl, the bustard, florican, partridge, quail, rock-pigeon, snipe, teal and wild duck. Several species of fresh-water fish are obtained in the larger tanks. In the Kolar District the chief wild animals are a few bears, met with in the Miekalnaikanpalya and Budikoti jungles; cheetahs and wild boar in the Nundydroog, Mudimadagu, Sannakal and Dokkal-konda hill ranges; hyænas, jackals, antelope, porcupines and hares in unfrequented parts; and the mongoose and smaller animals in the hedges around villages. The birds are similar to those of the Bangalore District. The town of Kolar and the villages adjacent to it are noted for turkeys, which are reared in large numbers for export to Bangalore, Bellary, and other places. In the Tumkur District the tiger, panther, bear and wild hog are to be met with in the reserved forest tracts around Devarayandroog; while deer and cheetahs are sometimes to be seen in the jungly parts of the Sira taluk. Birds of prey are said to be numerous in this district. In the Chittaldroog District the tiger, panther, bear, hyæna and wild hog infest most of the hilly and wild tracts; and deer are to be found chiefly in Hiriyur, Chittaldroog and Pavagada. All kinds of wild owl are very numerous in the secluded tanks in the south; and pelicans may be seen about Mattod. Good herds of oxen and sheep are found grazing in the east, north and north-western parts of this district. The Mysore District lays claim to the possession of the chief elephant tracts, which are to be found in the jungles in the south, east and west; but their destruction is prohibited by the Government. This district is famous for its cattle, especially the breeds known as the Amrat Mahal the Halikar and the Madesvarabetta or Madhugiri, and good sheep can be obtained from the Nagamangala, Maddur and Mandya taluks. In the Hassan District the forests of the Mulnad and the rocky hills, in the Hassan, Akalgud and Harnhalli taluks give shelter to numerous wild beasts: among which tigers, cheetahs, bears, elk spotted deer, jungle sheep and wild pigs are the most common: black cheetahs are occasionally shot in Manjarabad, and herds of elephants and bison visit the hilly tract on the verge of the Ghauts. In the Shimoga District bison and elephants are common in the Sagar taluk, while tigers, panthers and bears are found principally in the west and in Shikarpur. Wild boar abound in Chennagiri, Nyagar and other parts; sambhar chittul and jungle sheep are frequent in the wooded tracts. Wild geese, ducks and teal frequent the tanks in Chennagiri and Shimoga, while pea-fowl and jungle fowl are to be had in the woods.

Administrative capital of the State is BANGALORE (q. v.).

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.—The Director of Agriculture is the head of the Agricultural Department in Mysore with his office situated to the east of the Central College on the Sheshadri Road. Attached to the office buildings and under the control of the Director are the Agricultural Chemical Laboratory, the Mycological Laboratory, the Entomological Laboratory and the Insectary. An Experimental Farm connected with the Department is situated at Hebbal, five miles from Bangalore. Three other experimental farms have been started, one in Nagenhalli, four miles from Mysore, one in Babbur, three miles from Hiriyur in Chittaldrug District and one in Marthur, ten miles from Sagar in Shimoga District. The Agricultural School, also under the Director of Agriculture, has class rooms with laboratory equipment on the Hebbal Farm for Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Mycology and Entomology and for the practical work in Agriculture, Carpentry, Blacksmithing and Fitting. A Veterinary Hospital for treatment of sick animals on the Farm and in the neighbourhood has recently been opened. The Veterinary Assistant in-charge gives instruction to the students of the School in Veterinary Science, both theoretical and practical.

A Students' Hostel attached to the School is located on the farm where quarters for living have also been provided. An Implement Depot is attached to the Department in which machines and implements specially adapted to the agricultural requirements of the State are stocked and sold to the ryots. As far as possible local manufacturers are encouraged to stock approved implements made by them in this Depot. When definite results in regard to experiments in the various branches of the Department are achieved, such results are published in the form of bulletins which are supplied to agriculturists in the State who apply for them, free of cost. A District staff of two Agricultural Inspectors for each District have been appointed in the Eastern and Western Divisions of the State to work under the Deputy and Assistant Directors, respectively. A Dairy and Breeding Station has been attached to the Agricultural School at the Experimental Farm. Hebbal, for giving the students practical lessons in Dairing, etc.

NELLORE.

Description.—A district on the Eastern or Coromandel Coast, lying between 30° 25' and 15° 55' N. lat., and between 79° 9' and 80° 14' E. Long. On the east it is washed by the Bay of Bengal, its western boundary is formed by the Eastern Ghâts, which separate it from the districts of Kurnool and Cuddapah; north it is bordered by Guntur District; south by North Arcot and Chingleput. Estimated total area, 7,973 square miles; total population, according to the Census of 1921, 1,385,558.

Physical Geography.—This District occupies a tract of low land stretching from the base of the Eastern Ghâts to the sea. Its general aspect is forbidding. The coast line is uniformly a fringe of blown sand, through which the waves occasionally break and spread a salt sterility over the fields. Farther inland, the country begins to rise But the soil is not naturally fertile, nor are means of irrigation readily at hand except in Nellore taluk. Scarcely half of the total area is cultivated. The rest is either a rocky waste or covered with dense scrub jungle. The finest trees are to be found in the neighbourhood of the village sites. Along the western frontier rises a barren range of mountains, which throws out numerous spurs into the plain. A remarkable natural feature is the island of Sriharikota, a low ridge of sand which divides the Lake of Pulicat from the main sea. Inhabited chiefly by scattered families of the wild tribe of Yanadies, most of it has never been brought under cultivation; but Madras is supplied with fuel from this otherwise unprofitable waste. The chief rivers of Nellore are the Pennar and the Swarnamukhi, which rise in the table-land above the Ghâts and flow east to the sea. The numerous minor streams are little more than mountain torrents. The Pennar runs through the district for a total course of about 70 miles, passing by the town of Nellore. For nine months of the year its bed, which is rocky among the hills but sandy lower down, is almost dry, with deep pools here and there, in which fish collect. The season of flood (full or partial) lasts for about 60 days. When the stream is at its highest, the volume of water is 500 yards wide and 80 feet deep, filling the bed from bank to bank The chief irrigation works on the Pennar are the anicut at Nellore town, from which numerous channels are led off on the south bank, and an anicut made at Sangam, a place 18 miles west of Nellore, and which irrigates land north of the river. The floods of the Swarnamukhi also supply a series of irrigation channels. The bordering range of the Eastern Ghâts rises in its highest peak, Penchalakonda, to an elevation of about 3,600 feet above sea level. Detached from this range is the isolated hill or droog of Udayagiri (3,079 feet), which was formerly an important rock fortress. Throughout the district generally, the underlying rocks belong to the metamorphic series, which occasionally crops up in the form of gneiss, schist, and quartz, and is intersected by veins of quartz and volcanic rocks. The Eastern Ghâts, on the other hand, are capped by a series of sedimentary formation, chiefly altered sandstone and slate known as the "Cuddapah Group." Organic remains of fern-like plants have been found in several places. A band of laterite, varying greatly in width, extends almost continuously along the coast, and is largely quarried for building materials. Copper was discovered in the north-eastern corner of Udayagiri taluk in 1801. The ore was found on assay to yield a large percentage of metal, and European capital was attracted to the spot. But the enterprise has repeatedly proved unsuccessful, and no fresh attempt has been made since 1840. Saltpetre is made in a few villages, by refining down the nitrous earth to be found on the surface. Mica is worked in the south of the district. Wild animals are comparatively rare. Tigers are almost unknown, except when a stray one wanders across the mountains from Cuddapah. Leopards, bears, sambhur, deer, and occasionally bison, are still found among the western hills. Antelope, spotted deer and wild hog are generally distributed, while the small game comprise snipe, duck, bustard and florican.

NILGIRIS (THE).

Geographical position.—The Nilgiri District—as it existed prior to the annexation on the 31st March 1877, of the tracts known as the Nambalakód, Cherambód and Munnanád Amshoms, before then part of the Wynad Taluk of Malabar—lies between latitude 11° 8' and 11° 37' north, and longitude 76° 27' and 77° 4' east. Within these limits rise the Nilgiri Hills, a vast mountain block, comprising two more or less distinct hill ranges, usually known as the Nilgiris Proper and the Kúndas. Apart from the Kúnda and Nídumalé ranges, the surface of the Nilgiris is divided into an upper and lower plateau. The lower forming an irregular shelf rests upon the north-eastern and southern slopes of the Doddabetta, or great central range, and its offshoots, including the north-east angle of the plateau, sometimes, though without sufficient reason, called the Kótagiri range. The higher plateau, known amongst the aborigines as the "Mél," or upland and comprises the tract lying between the western slopes of Doddabetta and the Nídumalé and Kúnda ranges. The average elevation of this higher plateau above the lower may be roughly stated at from 1,000 to 1,500 feet.

Waterfalls are numerous and picturesque, though not of great depth or volume. The highest is Kólakambé, north of the hill of that name, having an unbroken fall of about 400 feet. Second to this is St. Catherine's Fall (250 feet) in a stream south of Kótagiri. Then follows the lower Fall of Paikara (200 feet) and after it the upper (180 feet). Of nearly the same height is the Kalhatti Fall (170 feet) on the Segúr Pass.

Lakes.—There are no natural lakes in the plateau, but art has attempted to supply in Ootacamund the defects of nature, for there are some artificial lakes or reservoirs, formed by banking up streams at narrow parts of the valleys. The most important is the Ootacamund lake, a marked feature in the station, and one which adds greatly to its beauty. Its form is serpentine, the bends being caused by the projecting spurs of the hills on either side. Its length is about two miles and a half, breadth from three to four hundred yards. A road follows the windings of its banks throughout and forms the principal drive of the station, being nearly five miles long.

Scenery.—The interior of the plateau consists chiefly of grassy undulating hills divided by narrow valleys, which invariably contain a stream or a swamp. In the hollows of the hill-sides nestle small beautiful woods, locally known as shólas. It is seldom that so much variety of beauty is found in so small a compass. Let a visitor take a short ride in almost any direction from almost any part of the plateau, and passing along shady English-looking lanes, sheltered by thickets of blackberry and wild rose; across bare breezy downs, sometimes dotted with twisted crimson flowering rhododendron and intersected by swampy valleys, where buffaloes wade and wallow, through dense woods carpeted with rare ferns and gorgeous in spring-tints, beside which the colouring of an English autumn is faint and dull, by native villages, with their patches of cultivation and their magnificent single trees, he will find himself on some ridge or promontory, looking straight down from 4,000 to 6,000 feet, on to a scene that changes like the figures in a kaleidoscope. In the morning a sea of clouds lies at his feet, and gradually rises round him. In the afternoon this has cleared away, and reveals perhaps a vast crimson plain, veined by dark lines of wood, dotted with isolated hummucks like giant ant-hills and terminating in faint blue lines of mountains, the furthest of which seems to hang half-way up the sky; perhaps on a tumbled mass of hills and valleys, a perfect dissolving view, for the eye has hardly traced the outline of some rocky ridge, glowing red in the sun-light, before a blue-cloud shadow blots it out, and a fresh series of crests and ravines start into sight beyond. Broken peaks, hung with wood frame the picture, and on all sides lies tropical sunlight, intensified by the keen thin mountain air. The hills are full of peaks with paths leading up to the top, made for the convenience of visitors. The scenery from these tops is simply delightful and the air refreshing and invigorating. The most important of these is the Mukurti Peak, situated about 17½ miles west of Ootacamund.

The climate or rather climates, of the Nilgiri Hills—for that of each hill and valley seems to vary according to its exposure to the monsoons, its elevation, or other local causes—may be generally described as for the greater part of the year, day, tracing and exhilarating, and more equable than those of Europe; the maximum range of the thermometer being only from 8 to 9 degrees at Ootacamund, and from 12 to 15 degrees at Wellington throughout the year, in the middle of the day, as against 28 degrees in London. December and January are frosty months, the wind is keen and the sky beautifully blue. This is the unhealthy season. Water cakes into thin layer ice in the winter. South-west monsoon.—During the south-west monsoon, which usually prevails until the end of September, much rain falls, and the air is generally saturated with moisture. The hills are quickly covered with luxuriant grasses and the forest trees put forth their fresh leaves. During August and September breaks, as they are called, occur. The mists clear off, and the sun shines forth for several days successively. The scenery, usually beautiful, is now surpassingly so, the undulating ground of the whole plateau being clothed with verdure of peculiar richness. This is usually considered to be the healthiest time of the year, and Europeans who have resided for any length of time upon the Hills, and judge the climate by experience, invariably prefer the rainy season to any other. North-east monsoon.—This begins about the middle of October and generally opens with vivid flashes of lightning and rattling peals of thunder, accompanied with heavy rain. There are breaks now and again, but rain is heavy. The wind occasionally becomes frosty and heavy fogs occur, especially in November.

Cases of illness which derive most benefit from a change to the Hill climate.—On the Nilgiri table-land we have a climate essentially temperate, and one which experience tells us is capable of conferring the greatest benefit in suitable cases. The cool refreshing breezes, together with the lovely mountain scenery, and relaxation from work, combine to effect an improvement in the health of those who have been exposed for any length of time to the enervating influences of the plains. For the following classes the climate will be found unquestionably most suitable and invigorating. Young people of weakly constitution, who have broken down through overwork in a tropical climate, or who from having come out to India before their constitution may be said to have been properly formed, and in consequence have been reduced to a state of general debility after their arrival in the country. Older persons who, by reason of a prolonged residence on the plains without change, or who, after suffering from some slight illness, have been troubled with dyspepsia, nervous debility, mental depression, or loss of appetite, and who in consequence feel an inability to perform their accustomed duties. These are the cases which derive the most permanent benefit from a residence on the Hills. It is presumed that in the above cases there is a freedom from all structural disease. Convalescence from many of the more trivial diseases to which Europeans are subject on the plains is generally hastened by a residence on these Hills, attention being paid to the selection of a station for such cases in due accordance with the age and state of the patient and the season of the year. The Hills are the place for consumptives, or those suffering from asthma, fevers, chronic diarrhœa, dysentery and liver.

The boundaries of the District are: North, Mysore; South, Malabar and Coimbatore; East, Coimbatore; West, Malabar. Area, 1,009 square miles. Population, 118,618. Languages are Toda, Kota and Badaga spoken by the indigenous tribes, and Canarese, Tamil and Malayalam are in common use.

GOVERNMENT BOTANICAL GARDENS AND PARKS, NILGIRIS.

Curator.—F. H. Butcher. Asst. Curator.—M. Arokiaswamy.

The following are the Gardens and Parks on the Nilgiris:—

1. Government Botanical Gardens. Ooty.
2. Government Parks. ... "
3. St. Thomas' Cemetery. ... "
4. Sim's Park. ... Coonoor.
5. Pomological Station, Sim's Park "
6. Burliar Experimental Gardens Coonoor
7. Kallar " " Ghat.

The Ootacamund Botanical Garden was opened during the Governorship of the Marquis of Tweeddale in 1847, and covers an area of about 51 acres. The grounds are beautifully laid out and planted with a great variety of exotic timber and ornamental trees, shrubs and her baceous plants. There is a fine terrace laid out with flower beds in the Italian fashion, two conservatories which are open to the public, and a range of propagating houses.

St. Thomas' Cemetery is under the superintendence of the Curator.

Sim's Park. Coonoor, was opened in 1874, as a pleasure ground for the inhabitants of, and visitors to, Coonoor and Wellington. It is prettily situated in a valley on the north side of Coonoor at an elevation of 5,800—5,900 feet and is about 30 acres in extent.

Pomological Station.—This station which covers an area of about 9 acres is attached to Sim's Park and is situated along the water channel Path near the entrance to the Pasteur Institute. It was established in 1920, its object being to promote fruit growing, to supply fruit trees and seeds to the public and to experiment with various fruit trees and plants.

The Burliar Experimental Garden is near the Burliar toll bar on the Coonoor ghat, at an elevation of 2,300 to 2,500 feet, and was purchased in 1871 for Rs. 2,000. Experience has proved that the site, which commands a plentiful supply of water all the year round for irrigation purposes, is well-adapted for the growth of trees and plants peculiar to tropical America, the West Indies, tropical Africa, the Straits, and the Eastern Archipelago. The Para Central American, Ceara, and Funtumia rubber trees, the Mangosteen, Nutmeg, Cinnamon, Clove Allspice, Cocoa, Coca, Mahogany, Camphor, Coffee trees of different species, Oranges, Breadfruit, Cocoanut, Custard Apple, Litchi, Langsat, Avocado Pear, Durian and Plantains — including the Manilla Hemp plant—are all represented and thriving well in the garden, which covers about 8 acres.

Kallar, a block of about 10 acres of land at 1,300 to 1,400 feet elevation, handed over by the Forest Department in 1900, lies on the old ghat road about a mile from Kallar Railway Station Rubber, fibre producing plants, teak, mahogany and tropical fruit trees are being experimented with there and also the valuable medicinal herb, Caphaelis Ipecacuanha.

OOTACAMUND.

Ootacamund, the chief town of the Nilgiri district, the principal sanitarium of India, the summer head quarters of the Madras Government, occupies the western slope of the Dodabetta mountain range. The town proper lies within the basin formed by two spurs of the Dodabetta mountain, the highest point of the southern being Elk Hill, and that of the northern the Club Hill. Owing to its peculiar features, Ootacamund is much exposed to the westerly winds, but is well protected upon the north and east. The bottom of the Ootacamund basin has been converted into an artificial lake some two miles in length and one-third of a mile in width, by throwing a dam across the main stream at a narrow pass where it issues from the central valley. The western lake is sinuous in form. Upon the hills which surround it, more or less concealed by woods of eucalyptus, acacia, cypress and pine, stand some of the best private residences in the town. On a foreland of its southern bank stands the Church of St. Thomas, a Gothic building; and opposite to this on the north bank, Ootacamund Railway Station. Though at a greater distance from the lake, the Roman Catholic Church is dedicated to the Blessed Virgin. The upper lake, an oval piece of water, much contaminated by the drainage of the native town or bazaar which lies on its northern bank, has been reclaimed lately and is now utilized as a Gymkhana ground and Race Course. Round the margin of the whole lake runs a wide carriage-drive. The marsh at the head, or eastern extremity of the lake has been reclaimed levelled, and forms a park known as the Hobart Park, still used for purposes of public recreation. The area including the land lying on the northern and southern margins of the lake as far as the Willow Bund, is about thirty acres opposite to this, at the eastern extremity of the native bazaar, stands the Hobart School for native girls To the east is the public market. On the slope of the hill behind the market are the Police lines and station; and above these ranges of buildings St. Bartholomew's Hospital, behind which on the top of the ridge, are the jail buildings now used by the Taluk and Sub-Registrar's Offices, as office and by the Indian Defence Force for their Armoury and Recreation room. At a short distance to the east, on the same spur, is the Public Library, and opposite to it the Post Office; a little further on are the public offices of the district and lower down the Breeks' Memorial School. Nearer to the hill stands the Church of St. Stephen, the old station church; and opposite its gates the church and school of the Church Missionary Society's Indian Christians. The sides of the hill to the east and west of St. Stephen's are thickly studded with houses and cottages, including westward the Club House and the principal hotels, and eastward the Assembly Rooms. Looking to the east from St. Stephen's, but at a much lower elevation, on the western extremity of a minor spur of Dodabetta, stands "Stonehouse," which contains the Council Chamber and the offices of the Madras Secretariat. In the hollows and on the spurs of Dodabetta to the north and south of "Stonehouse" are many residences. The lands on these slopes are generally very fertile and well watered, and for this reason a considerable and yearly extending area is cultivated as garden land. In a steep ravine, about half a mile to the north of "Stonehouse," are the Public Gardens and the Todah "mund," from which Ootacamund takes its name Above the Public Gardens, stretching across the Dodabetta saddle, is the Government Cinchona plantation. On the northern shoulder of the ravine, adjoining the Public Gardens, lies the hill residence of the Governor, backed by a fine wood of eucalyptus on the side of the Snowdon mountain. From the foot of "Stonehouse" towards the south runs the highway to Coonoor, disappearing in the deep cutting which separates Elk Hill from the Dodabetta range. This is a simple description of the main valley, but the limits of the station lie for beyond it and include two other important valleys; to the south and parallel with it, Lovedale, with its picturesque lake, above which stand the extensive stoyed buildings of the Lawrence Memorial School (founded 1858); to the north the valley and Marlimund which opens out towards the head of the Seegoor Pass. Between the Ootacamund and the Marlimund valleys is a hollow, across the outlet of which a dam has been thrown forming the Marlimund reservoir from which, through cast iron pipes, nearly three miles in length, the northern portion of Ootacamund is supplied with water. The house occupied by Europeans in the station have often five or six acres of land attached and many have from twenty to seventy acres. In the chief native bazar on the border of the lake, some eight thousand persons are congregated; and perhaps half of the number again in Kandal, a bazar in a small valley to the west of the station. But a large number of Indians have their homes in scattered hamlets, chiefly in the eastern portions of the station. The inhabitants of these hamlets are chiefly Canarese, with a sprinkling of Tamils. There is no Badaga village within municipal limits, and only three or four Toda munds or villages.

Lovedale.

LOVEDALE is three miles from Ootacamund on the summit and centre of the Nilgiri Hills. It is now in the Ootacamund Municipal area. It lies between the 11th and 12th degrees of North Latitude and the 76th and 77th degrees of East Longitude, on the confines of Coimbatore and Malabar, at elevation of 7,330 feet above the main level of the sea, being 1,312 feet below Dodabetta and 103 feet above the Lake at Ootacamund, and 1,470 feet above the Barracks at Wellington. The mean annual temperature at Lovedale is 58°; the mean maximum is 68°; the mean minimum is 48°; the mean annual range 16°. On or near the ground, however, water often freezes during the winter months. Chinna-Dodabetta is in Lovedale and at its foot there is the Asylum Reservoir. The Lawrence Memorial School buildings and ground cover an area of 73·76 acres. Close by eastwards is Keti Valley occupied by Badagas.

OOTACAMUND TAXES.

"Profession tax, half-yearly—Is levied on persons exercising profession or holding appointment in OOTACAMUND, whether public or private or employed in any capacity, or in receipt of a pension paid from any source or income from investments a money-lending or any source other than home and lands, amounting Rs. 8·30 per mensem and upwards, for not less than 60 days in half-year in accordance with the rates in Schedule A to the Act." Note.—(a This tax shall be payable at the full monthly rate for every servant employed for not less than fifteen days in the aggregate out of every thirty days from the commencement of the employment, and at moiety of the monthly rate for every servant employed for less than fifteen days but not less than seven days in the aggregate during such periods.

(b) Every employer of private menial and of domestic servants who is not liable in this Municipality for the profession tax or surcharge on the income-tax or, as proprietor, for the property tax, is liable to pay the monthly tax on servants in his employ in Ootacamund.

Section 90 of the Act:—(1) Every person having possession, custody or control of any taxable carriage or animal shall be liable for the full half-yearly tax if the carriage or animal has been kept or let out for hire within the Municipality for an aggregate period of not less than sixty days in the half-year.

(2) If such aggregate period exceeds fifteen days but is less than sixty days, a moiety only of the half yearly tax shall be leviable.

2. Residents in clubs, hotels, boarding-houses, etc., are liable to pay the full rates of servants' tax; likewise, those who rent houses and reside therein, for the first three months of their residence.

3. Under section 117, the Municipal Council exempts the following classes of employers who rent and reside in houses within Municipal limits, from paying the monthly tax on servants, to the extent detailed below:—

Class of employers.

I. Persons who rent houses and reside continuously in this Municipality for more than three months and not more than six months in any financial year, and who have paid servants' tax for the first three months.

Extent of exemption.

Exempted in respect of each month, in excess of three months, from payment of 50 per cent. of the tax on all servants, except female grass-cutters.

N.B.—Persons who have paid profession or property tax which secures for them exemption from the servants' tax in the first half of the financial year, ending 30th September, but who become liable to the payment of the servants' tax during the second half-year, from and after the 1st October, are entitled to the exemption under Class I only, for the remaining part of the financial year during which they may be in residence in rented houses in this Municipality.

II. Persons who rent houses and reside continuously in this Municipality for more than six months in any financial year, and who have paid servants' tax for the six months.

Exempted in respect of each month, in excess of six months, from payment of 75 per cent. of the tax on all servants, except female grass-cutters.

Note.—(1) Residence will be taken to mean the date on which the tenant of a rented house actually comes into residence.

(2) The period of residence counts with reference to the financial year, that is, between the 1st of April and the 31st of March.

KOTAGIRI—Nilgiri District.

Kotagiri, or Koteagherry as it was formerly called, is 18 miles from the foot of the Nilgiris and 6,500 feet above the level of the sea. It is situated in North latitude 11° 19'. The first English settlers went to Kotagiri, which is still considered as possessing a better climate for invalids than Ootacamund or Coonoor. It is chiefly occupied by planters, and is so called from the Kotars who have a village in it. The Kotars are a dirty lot. They live on carrion, and their persons and huts are squalid and filthy. They are mostly blacksmiths by profession. Kotagiri produces tea, coffee, and oranges of superior kind in abundance. Potatoes and pears form no inconsiderable supply during July, August and September. The Roman Catholic Mission has established churches and schools here and is doing quiet but useful work.

A Hill Station and division of the Coonoor Taluk. Lat. 11° 31'. Long. 76° 54'. Distance, 18 miles E. of Ootacamund, 13 miles N.-E. of Coonoor, and 21 miles N. of Mettupalaiyam. Elevation 6,000 feet Rainfall average 70 inches (chief monsoon N.-E.). Languages spoken.—Tamil, Badaga, Kotah, Toda and Irrula.

COONOOR.

Coonoor is the alternative sanitarium with Ootacamund on the Nilgiris, and being in a more sheltered position is sometimes preferred. Its position is lat. 11° 20′ N., and long. 76° 50′ E., and its distance 363 miles from Madras, and 12 from Ootacamund. The scenery of Coonoor differs very greatly from that of Ootacamund; its vegetation is semi-tropical, the contour of the hills is bold, and the colouring of the scenery bright and warm. On the other hand, the vegetation of Ootacamund is rather that of the Temperate Zones; its hill lines are unbroken and undulating, and the colouring of the landscape cold and grey. The climate of Coonoor also differs as widely as its scenery, being warm, moist and relaxing, whilst that of Ootacamund is cool, dry and invigorating. Each supplies the need. The mean annual temperature in the shade at Coonoor is 62° F. In the warmer months the thermometer fluctuates between 5° and 75° F.; in the colder months 38° and 68° F. The average annual rainfall is 76 inches. The rate of mortality is remarkably low. The height of All Saints' Church above the sea-level is 5,954 feet. that of the Coonoor bridge about 5,500 feet. Most of the houses occupied by Europeans are between 5,700 and 6,000 feet above sea-level. Coonoor peak, however, is 6,893 feet above sea level, or only 300 feet below the level of the Ootacamund lake. Coonoor lies at the head of the ravine and pass which bears its name.

The native town spreads over the lower slopes of the spurs of two hills, which, terminate in a wedge-like promontory where the united waters of three streams break over the edge of the ghaut and are precipitated down the gorge under the name of the Coonoor river, finally joining the Kartairy river. The three streams are crossed by three bridges. On an eminence on the western spur stands the Protestant Mission Chapel, and on the eastern the Roman Catholic Church; below the latter is the market. The Road to Upper Coonnor passes up the ridge and thence round the head of the valley, and along the wooded ridge which encloses it on the east and south. On this ridge stands the Coonoor Church, dedicated to All Saints, with a lofty square tower. The Church is surrounded by a grave-yard planted with exotic trees and flowers. To the east of this ridge is a ravine separating it from Tiger Hill, round which winds Lord Hobart's road, passing into the road to Lamb's Rock Lady Canning's Seat, and the Dolphin's Nose, some five miles eastward of Coonnoor above the Kottagherry gorge. Below this road, stretching away to the east as far as the eye can see, are the Coimbatore and the Salem plains, the ancient Conga country; northwards the Biligherryrungam hills and the ranges which mark the line of the Balaghat country; whilst south and westwards is the Coonoor pass, walled in on the south by the "Hoolicauldrug," which is backed by the Lamton's Peak range south of the Bhawany river and by the distant Anamullay mountains.

Behind the hill on which the Church stands is another valley one of the ravines on the western side of the Coonoor peak, along which runs the road to Kotagherry. This valley has been formed into a garden named Sim's Park, after Mr. J. D. Sim, a late Member of the Madras Council. It is an offshoot of the deep ravine which divides Coonoor from Wellington, and the upper portion of which has been converted into a race-course, unrivaleed by any in India for the picturesqueness and beauty of its position. The drainage of this valley forms the middle stream of Coonoor, which meets the other streams at the old Coonoor bridge. This bridge is the central point of the Coonoor road system. Here the old and new ghat roads meet, and from it, along the right bank of the western stream as far as the Wellington bazaar, runs the main road to Ootacamund. Above this road to the left is the Tahsildar's Office, Sub-Magistrate's Court, the Police Station and Police lines. The old court buildings have recently been dismantled and rebuilt on a more extensive plan, and a few private residences; and below it the Railway Station. The Nilgiri Railway was opened in 1899 from Mettupalaiyam to Coonoor, the line being on the rack-rail system from the foot of the hills. This railway has been purchased by Government. A continuation of the line from Coonoor to Ootacamund was completed and the train service began in 1908. A piped water supply scheme for the town of Coonoor was completed in April 1905. A Pasteur Institute for the Madras Presidency has been built in Coonoor, near Sim's Park. Three miles up the old Ootacamund road is situated the Government Cordite Factory worked by electric power obtained from the Kartairy Falls.

WELLINGTON.

The station of Wellington, which is the Convalescent Depôt for the British troops in the Madras Presidency, is in the Merkanad Division of the Nilgiri District, and lies in latitude 11° 5' north and longitude 77° 5' east, with a native population of 5,544. It is 6,100 feet above the level of the sea, situated on a spur running to the south-east from the Dodabetta or middle range of mountains, is well sheltered, only partially exposed to the monsoons, and well adapted for a sanitarium. It is bounded on the north by the Dodabetta mountain, which is 8,760 feet above sea-level, and is sheltered by it partially from the south-west monsoon; on the south by Coonoor, two miles distant, from which it is separated by a deep ravine; on the east by Kotagiri, 18 miles distant; and on the west by a spur of the Dodabetta range stretching towards Kátéri. There is a Convalescent Depôt which is now called the Furlough Recreation Camp, and a convalescent enteric depot at the Hut Barracks besides Rifle Range Camp and Bazaar Hill Camp. The Madras District Head-Quarter Offices are located in the main Barracks from 1st December 1920.

Climate and its influence on health.—The climate at Wellington, although only 11 degrees from the equator, is most salubrious, temperate, and invigorating. The thermometer seldom rises in the shade above 75 degrees, and the days throughout the cold months are clear and bracing. The mornings are always refreshing, and, if the character and time of the setting in of the south-west monsoon is regular, the months of the middle part of the year are pleasant and healthy.

The soil in and about Wellington is of a rich red ferruginous clay or maral, resting on a granitic base with sienite in many places, and here and there felspar, mica, and veins of quartz. Flint and amethyst appear to be embedded in the granite, sienite or gneiss, in the form of crystallized silica.

The road up the ghât runs from east to west. On the first portion of the ascent the bamboo, coccanut and nut grow in abundance, sheltering the road. On going higher, one observes the indigenous forest trees, among which are conspicuous, the teak, of an inferior quality, the blackwood, which is useful for furniture, and takes a handsome polish, the sal, wild jack and vengay. Vengay is a superior timber considered by some equal to teak, and from it the bridges throughout the ghât are made. Lastly, the red and white cedars, the woods of which are suitable for building or making furniture. These trees are conspicuous for their great girth. About two-thirds up the ghât it is a pleasing relief to meet a resting-place, known as the 'Half-way House,' midway between Coonoor and Mettupalaiyam, or 5 miles from the former station. Here coffee is provided for troops coming up. It is well shaded, and a perennial spring of clear water flows close by. The ascent from Mettupalaiyam to Coonoor is about 4,500 feet. Midway between Ootacamund and Coonoor, i.e.. at the 7th mile stone, Aruvenkad, stands the Cordite Factory, the surroundings of which up to Yellanhalli are under the sanitary charge of the Wellington Cantonment Authority.

PALNI HILLS (SEE KODAIKANAL).

PONDICHERRY—Madras Presidency.

A City, Seaport, and Capital of the French Settlements in India, on the Coromandel Coast, within the South Arcot District, lying in Lat. 11° 5′ 57″; Long. 79° 52′ 53″. Languages spoken—French and Tamil.

PONDICHERRY, the Capital of the French Settlements in India, and the seat of Government was purchased by the French from the Vijayanagar Raja in 1672; it is situated on a flat sandy coast south-east of a long flat Hill. The settlement forms part of the delta [conamoogam] of the Penniar, and a great portion of its surface is alluvial. Many artesian wells have been sunk, and excellent drinking water is obtainable. The hills known as the Montagues Rouges form a natural girdle to the country about Pondicherry. The coast board of the settlement is about five miles, and its breadth from three to four miles. The climate is healthy. The territory is divided into eight municipalities. The total superficies of the territory is estimated at 69,000 acres which, in consequence of the parcelment, is scattered over a space of about 173,000 acres.

The first French settlement was made here in 1674 under François Martin and the Genl. Mons. Dupleix. In 1693 it was captured by the Dutch and restored at the Peace of Ryswick in 1699. The town was besieged by the English unsuccessfully in 1748; but was taken by Sir E. Coote in 1761 and restored in 1763. It was again captured by Sir Hector Munro in 1778 and restored in 1785; Colonel Braithwaite once more took it in 1793, and finally restored it in 1816. A very fine fort, which was built 500 yards from the sea, of brick covered with polished white plaster, was demolished by Sir Eyre Coote, in 1761. Down to the middle of the last century Pondicherry was the finest city in India.

The city now extends along the sea coast about a mile and a quarter, and is about three-quarters of a mile in breadth. The town is regularly built and is divided into two parts, the White town and the Black town, separated by a canal. The White town is by the sea side. Its streets are regularly laid out and cut each other at right angles, and the houses are well built. There is a fine Pier 850 metres long. Government House, a handsome building situated to the North of the Place Dupleix, is within 800 yards of the sea, near a fine statue of Mons. Dupleix, inscribed "to all the glories of France," which is on a handsome pedestal of Gingee stone. The town has no port, but an open roadstead, which being to windward for nine months of the year, and having less surf, is superior to that at Madras. But in consequence of the small depth of water near the shore and the violence of the surf, landing can be effected only by flat-bottomed boats constructed for the purpose. There are three hotels, and a fully furnished Travellers' bungalow near the Railway Station, which is maintained by a native gentleman. Travellers can reside in this house for three days free of charge, but must make their own arrangements regarding food, etc., with the servants. The usual mode of conveyance is the pousse pousse, a sort of bath chair; jutkas and carts are also procurable.

The British India Co.'s Negapatam and Rangoon steamers call weekly, and the same Co.'s Madras and Singapore boats once a fortnight; the Messageries and Asiatic Co.'s steamers touch at the Port every alternate week. Pondicherry is the seat of an Archbishop, and the head-quarters of the French Roman Catholic Missions; there is a fine Cathedral dedicated to Notre Dame des Anges. There is a Circle (Club) for Europeans, and others for natives. Pondicherry is the terminus of the Villupuram-Pondicherry branch of the South Indian Railway. The city and environs contain many fine houses in the European style, and the high culture of the soil, the numerous canals crossed by neatly constructed bridges, and roads planted with trees, give to the surrounding district the appearance of a great garden.

Three miles south of Pondicherry is the village of Veerampatnam, where is an ancient and interesting temple to the goddess Sangalaniammal (an Avatar of Kali) which attracts many pilgrims from all over South India. Four miles south, at Aryankuppam, is a very old Roman Catholic Church.

PUDUKKOTTAI STATE.

MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

Description.—This Native State, otherwise called the Tondiman's country, lies between 10° 15' and 0° 29' N. lat., and between 78° 45' and 79° E. long., and is entirely surrounded by the British districts of Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Ramnad and Madura. Its area is 1,179 square miles; almost entirely agricultural. Language spoken, Tamil. The country is for the most part a flat plain, interspersed with small rocky hills, some of which are crowned by old forts. In the south-west, hills and jungles are found, but elsewhere the State is well cultivated. There are 7,649 tanks, some of considerable size. The gross revenue of the State is about 21 lakhs of rupees.

The first connection of the British Government with the chief of this State, then usually called Tondiman, (a family name derived from the word Tondai, an abridged form of Tondaimandalam, the supposed original home of the family), was formed at the siege of Trichinopoly in 1753, when the British army greatly depended on his fidelity and exertions for the supply of provisions. Subsequently, he was serviceable in the wars with Hyder Ali and in the Poligar War, the latter being the name given to the operations against the usurpers of the large zemindari of Sivaganga in the Madras district after the cession of the Carnatic. In 1803, he solicited as a reward for his services his claim to the fort and district of Kilan lai, situated in the southern part of Tanjore. This was founded on a grant by Pratap Sing, Rajah of Tanjore, and on engagements afterwards entered into by Colonel Brathwaite, General Coote, and Lord Macartney the Government of Madras granted fort and district of Kilanelly, and the cession was confirmed by the Court of Directors, upon the condition that the district should not be alienated, and that it should revert to the British Government upon proof being given at any time that the inhabitants laboured under oppression.

The Rajah maintains a military force of 152 officers and men. Chief town, bearing the same name, is 32 miles south of Trichinopoly and 36 miles south-west of Tanjore. A Residency bungalow, second grade College, a well-equipped Hospital a Travellers' bungalow, Court houses, and various other public buildings are in the town.

SANDUR STATE.

Area, 164 square miles. Population 11,648.

Sandur lies within the district of Bellary. A cordon of hills surrounds it and much of the State consists of forests where sandalwood and other trees grow in abundance.

The family of the Raja counts back to a Mahratta officer in the army of Bijapur, a collateral in descent according to tradition with the Bhonslas of Satara. The grandson of this officer seized the country from a poligar of the Bedar or hunter tribe, a holder nominally subject to Bijapur and was subsequently confirmed in it by a grant from Sambhaji, who conferred on him the title of Senapathi.

In 1817 Sir Thomas Munro reduced the fort and valley on behalf of the Peshwa but in the following year they were restored to Siva Rao and in 1826 they were granted to him and his heirs in perpetuity.

In 1876 the title of "Raja" was conferred on the chief as an hereditary distinction.
The present chief of the State was born in 1892. He was married on the 8th June 1908 to Tara Raje, sister of the Chief of Akalkot in the Bombay Presidency, and has a daughter.

The famous shrine of Sri Kumaraswami is situated at a distance of about 6 miles from Sandur; pilgrims in large numbers from the N.-W. Provinces and Bombay Presidency attend the festival there, held once in three years.

Rajah.—Srimant Vencata Rao, Rao Saheb, Hindu Rao, Ghorpâdê Mamalkatmadar Senapathy, Rajah of Sandur.

Dewan.—T. S. Ramachandra Iyer, B.A.

Sheristadar.—B. S. Salunke, Dewan's Office, Sandur.

Mercantile Concerns.—The General Sandur Mining Co., Ltd., Working Manganese Mines in the State.

THE SHEVAROY HILLS

Are situated in the Salem District between 78°20° East longitude and 11° 05″ North longitude, and extend over an area of 150 square miles. The highest point, Shevaroyan, from which an extensive view of the surrounding country can be obtained, is 5,314 feet above the level of the sea. Branfell, 5,807 feet, and Duffs' Hill, 5,281, are next in height. The Shevaroyan, has a small temple and is often visited by picnic parties. Yercaud, 4,330 feet in elevation, is the principal European settlement, having an altitude of 1,700 feet greater than that of Bangalore. It enjoys a cool and salubrious climate, and is surrounded by charming and picturesque scenery. This charming Hill Station is resorted to by a large number of visitors as a Sanitarium and also by those for whom the Nilgiris are too cold, being especially more suitable for those suffering from rheumatism, heart and lung complaints. Salem Railway station, from which alone the Shevaroys should be visited, lies 207 miles south-west of Madras, and is 14 miles by road and ghât, from the centre of Yercaud station. If the necessary arrangements have been made for ascending the ghât, visitors leaving Madras or Bangalore by the evening train reach their destination before 8 A.M. the following morning. It is 206 miles distant from Calicut, 97 miles from Coimbatore and 126 from Trichinpoly.

These hills are approached by three ghâts, one on the southern side communicating with the town of Salem and the railway station; another on the western side leading to Kadiampatty station, distant about 12 miles; and the last, traced formerly as Bandy ghât on the northern side of these Hills, connecting them with the Bommidi railway station, distant about 19 miles. A carriage ghât to Salem, named after His Excellency Sir Arthur Havelock, is freely used for wheeled traffic. The distance of this ghât to Salem Railway Station is 20 miles. From the station Yercaud is reached in about three hours, to the foot of the old ghât road in jutkas at one rupee each, and the ascent used to be done on chairs at 5 annas per cooly carrying same, six coolies to a chair. But now these rates for chair and luggage coolies as for every thing else, are increased now the charge being Rs. 3-0-0. for a chair, and 6 annas for a luggage cooly. The return journey can be done either by rickshaws or cycles; the former are always available at the Yercaud Stores, the charge for each Rick being Rs. 3-12-0. Motoring up and down the New Ghât Road is not only now a possibility but a pleasure, because of the picturesque views that are to be seen.

Among some of the public buildings are the following:—Holy Trinity Church (Anglican), Roman Catholic Chapel, Roman Catholic Convent, French Mission, London Mission Chapel and School, Danish Mission Chapel, Post Office and Telegraph Office, Victoria Rooms, Kutcherry, Hospital and Dispensary. There is a Sub-Treasury and a Sub-Registrar's Office, in charge of the Deputy Tahsildar, who is Sub-Magistrate of the Hills.

Fair lawns has ceased to exist as a boarding house having been bought by a private owner. The Carlton Hotel, comprising Charrington and Carlton House, has taken its place. Numerous detached bungalows, are surrounded by extensive and well managed gardens, and is in immediate proximity to the Church, Post and Telegraph Offices, Public Library and Tennis Courts. The Yercaud Club is conveniently situated and has excellent Tennis and Badminton Courts, besides Billiard and Bridge Room, &c. There are also Golf links near the Lake, but as these are too small, it is proposed to make a larger course on a more suitable site, and this should prove a great attraction to visitors from the plains. 100 acres of land have been acquired for the formation of a Golf course. This was expected to be opened after the war and should form a great attraction to visitors to Yercaud.

A miniature Rifle Club for ladies was started in 1917.

The European and Eurasian inhabitants of the Shevaroys number about 350, the former being in a large majority; three-fifths of this population is settled in Yercaud and the remainder are in the outlying coffee estates. The Ladies' Rifle Club has ceased to exist. The Afghan Princes and interned Germans have been removed from Yercaud.

A market or Shandy is held on Sundays. There are Bakeries in Yercaud, and shops for the sale of stores and liquors, the principal being Messrs. N. O. Pillai, the "Yercaud Stores" and the "Saits" shop. Nearly all the English vegetables and fruit trees thrive remarkably well, and might be cultivated with profit to the grower, in fact a jam factory should prove a very paying concern.

The largest coffee estates are situated from 4 to 7 miles away from Yercaud, at Nagalore and the Green Hills, at the former of which there is a Post and Telegraph Office. Here some of the most flourishing estates are to be seen with excellent roads to them. Several exotic trees are met with, such as Eucalyptus (Blue Gum), Norfolk Pines (Auracaria Excelsa), Pinus Longifolia (Pine), Grevillia Robusta (Silver Oak), &c., &c., which present a striking contrast to the forest trees indigenous to these Hills, to which, however, with the exception of the Casuarina, they are much inferior in beauty. Roses and ferns of different kinds grow very well.

The permanent residents are chiefly Planters, some of whom also possess houses which they rent out during the season, which lasts from April to October.

The climate is extremely healthy, especially for children, and epidemics of typhoid and small-pox are unknown. These Hills get the benefit of both the south-west and north-east monsoons, which causes the rainfall to be more evenly distributed throughout the year, and thus enhances the value of the place as a coffee and rubber growing district.

A tribe of natives, called Mallaialis (Hill-men), Vellallans by caste, the descendants of immigrants from near Conjeevaram, are to be met with living in numerous villages of from 20 to 100 conical-shaped huts. They are an agricultural race, cultivating different kinds of grain and breeding cattle and remarkable for their extreme clannishness. Labour rates have increased: men being 1/12, to 2 for a week, women 1/8 a week. Independent of these Hill-men, Re. 1-2-0, coolies from the low lands come up to work on the estates at the following rates: men Re. 1-8, women Re. 1-8 a week and children 8 to 12 annas per week. There are very many spots within easy distance of Yercaud, commanding beautiful views of the low country and distant ranges, suitable for picnic and walking and riding parties, which have only to be seen to be appreciated. Amongst these might be mentioned Bears' Cave, Lady's Seat, Arthur's Seat, Pagoda Point, Prospect Point, the Killiur Falls, and Owen's Grotto.

TIRUPATI—(SEE CHITTOOR DISTRICT).

THE TRAVANCORE STATE.

Description—This (the southern portion of the ancient division of Kerala) is a Native State, situated between 8o 4' and 10o 21' N. Lat., and between 76o 13' and 7.o 33' E. Long. It is bounded on the north by the Native State of Cochin and the British District of Coimbatore; on the east by the British district of Madura and Tinnevelly; on the south and west by the Indian Ocean. The extreme length of Travancore from north to south is 174 miles, its extreme breadth 75 miles. Area, 7,624,81 square miles. Population, 4,006,062. The State is in subsidiary alliance with the British Government, to which it pays a tribute of Rs. 8,00,000 a year. It is divided for administrative purposes into 34 taluks. Trivandrum is the chief town and the residence of the Maharajah. Languages spoken are Malayalam in the North and Tamil in the South.

Travancore is one of the most picturesque portions of Southern India. The mountains which separate it on the east from the British districts on the Coromandel Coast, and which at some points rise to an elevation of 8,000 feet above the sea, are clothed with magnificent primeval forest; while the belt of flat country, to an average distance of about 10 miles inland from the sea, is covered with an almost unbroken mass of cocoanut and areca palms, which, in a great measure, constitute the wealth of the country. The whole surface is undulating, and presents a series of hills and valleys, traversed from east to west by many rivers, the floods of which arrested by the peculiar action of the Arabian Sea on the coast, spread themselves out into numerous lakes or lagoons connected here and there by artificial canals, and forming an inland line of smooth water-communication which extends nearly the whole length of the coast, and is of the utmost value when the sea itself is closed for navigation during the monsoon. Naujenaud with its numerous villages, palmyra groves, and extensive swamps of rice, resembles in some respects the neighbouring district of Tinnevelly, except that, unlike Tinnevelly, it is nowhere sterile. Northward, this fertile plain is succeeded by the wooded and rugged surface of the Malayalam country. The rich and variegated tract along the coast is finely contrasted with the mountainous wilds farther inland. The hill scenery has peculiar beauties, among which are the wild, rocky and precipitous acclivities and fantastic forms of the mountains in the southern parts. Farther north, the mountain chain becomes less bold a few rugged cliffs and conical summits alone breaking the sameness of its outline. The high range breaks into clusters of hills, and the valleys are studded with temples and churches. Indeed, the numerous houses and gardens, scattered thickly over the country, give it an appearance entirely different from that of the eastern coast. Manacoody, Colachel, Vizhinjam Poondoray, Anjengo, Quilon, Poraca d, and Alleppey are seaport towns of which Alleppey, Quilon and Colachel are by far the most important, the others being frequented only by small native craft. The hill region is so extensive, and so marked a feature of the State, that it merits special notice. The mountains are of every variety of elevation, climate and vegetation. Some tracts are even now considered inaccessible Certain portions have been taken up by European and native capitalists, by whom the natural fertility of the soil is being turned to good account. Some of the loftier mountains are entirely detached except near their bases, from the neighbouring heights; they often have a precipitous descent towards the west, and are connected on that side with a succession of low hills which diminish in altitude as they approach the coast. From Quilon southward, these secondary ranges soften down into undulating slopes, intersected by glens and valleys, which grow wider as the elevation of the hills decreases, and are cultivated invariably with rice, proving very productive. Among the mountains a few rough elevated tablelands are found; but the alternation of hill and valley is in most cases too rapid to allow of any large extent of level surface. The above remarks refer to the country west of the Periyar river, between which and in igul rises a confused mass of hills. These have, however, similar characteristics; their summits, either broken into projecting cliffs, or thickly covered with trees, fall generally with precipitous abruptness, and present a variety of wild and magnificent forest scenery. These solitudes inclose some elevated plains (about one-twelfth of the whole area), which afford pasturage for cattle, and enjoy a good climate for a portion of the year. To the north, the mountains rise to an elevation of 8,000 feet, with plateau over 7,000 feet. The more important of these is part of the group known as the Anamallays. The southernmost peak of note is the sacred Agasthyakudam (6,200 feet), the source of the Tambrapurny river. The plateau, by reason of their good climate, rich soil, abundant timber and water-supply, are likely to become better known as the demand for coffee land increases. One plateau alone (Eroovimullay or Hamilton's Valley) is 6 miles long by 8 wide, and contains about 10,000 acres of excellent tea and coffee land. Similar smaller valleys are found in the group called the Kanandevan Hills. At the head of the Travancore Hills stands Anamudi (8,837 feet), the highest peak south of the Himalayas, and near it are several other peaks of 8,000 feet. South of this group is the lower region of the Cardamom Hills so called from their special product. South of these, again, are large tracts of unsurveyed forest, which, with the exception of the Ashamboo coffee plantations, and one or two narrow strips near the main passes, continue to the Atchancoil river. Even south of this, although the hills become lower and narrower, the country is thinly inhabited almost to Cape Comorin. Numerous rivers run down from the ghats, which flow by tortuous courses, with high banks and rocky beds, into the backwater; most of these are navigable only near the sea. The chief river of Travancore is the Periyar, rising in the High Ranges, which, after a course of 142 miles, enters the backwater at Kodungalore (Cranganore); 60 miles of this river are navigable. A portion of its enormous volume of water is now diverted into Madura by the Periyar water works. The Pamba, and its tributary the Atchancoil, and the Kallada are the next in importance. The Western Tambrapurny, or, as it is locally known, the Coolitoray river, rising in the mountains to the north of Mahendragherry, a sister river of the larger Tambrapurny which flows east into Tinnevelly, flows westward, like all other Travancore rivers. Numerous small streams cross the narrow plain between the mountains and the sea, but no large irrigation works exist on them, the plentiful rainfall making these unnecessary, except in the extreme south Here on the Paraly and Koda, there are anicuts constructed by Pandyan kings. A succession of lagoons or backwaters, connected by navigable canals, extends along the coast, from Trivandrum northwards, forming a most important means of communication. Its extreme length is nearly 200 miles, namely, from Tirur in British Malabar to Trivandrum; between the latter place and Quilon, there rises a high promontory of land about 6 miles in breadth, the highest portions of which in two places have been tunnelled through, to a length of over 3,000 feet, and the remaining portion cut open into a canal, thus making the line of water communication complete. The total area of these lakes is 227½ square miles, of which 157½ are in Travancore, 53½ in Cochin, and 16½ in British Territory. The largest lake is the Vembanaud (east of Alleppey), but, except during the monsoon, it is shallow. A strip of land from 7 miles to about half a mile wide separate these backwaters from the sea. There are, however, several outlets those at Chetwye, Kodangalore, Cochin, Kayenkulam, Id va and Pa·avoor being the principal ones. Every kind of merchandise and a very large portion of the produce of the country is carried on these waters. There are also several good cart roads in the inland parts of the country for local traffic and the extension of the South Indian Railway to Quilon has opened up easy communication with Tinnevelly and Madura. The boats for water communication are of various sizes, and in most instances are formed of a single tree, the trunk of which is hollowed out. The ordinary size is about 20 feet by 2½ feet; the boats for carrying rice to a distance are larger, and have a deck or roof. Tampakam and areialy trees are generally selected for boat-building, being durable and sufficiently large. Alum, sulphur, lignite, plumbago and mica exist. There are plumbago mines at Nayattinkara and Nedumangad and mica mines at Eraniel. The mountains and forests of Travancore afford some of the best sport to be got anywhere in India, especially in the shape of "large game." Elephants, whose ivory is a source of State revenue, are numerous. Tigers, leopards (including the black variety), bears, bison, sambhur, or "elk," and various kinds of deer abound.

Mary Adelaide, C.I., D.B.E., daughter of First Baron Brassey, A.-D.-C. of Lord Brassey when Governor of Victoria, 1895; M. P. a Liberal. Appointed Junior Lord of the Treasury, 1905; A fine cricketer; was Captain of Eton and Cambridge Eleven; took up Governorship of Madras after six years of strenuous work as Governor of Bombay. Was specially requested, it is well-known, by the authorities at home, to inaugurate Montford Reforms in this Presidency, having given proof of sympathy with progressive ideals of Moderate India and readiness to help forward Indian Reforms; arriving in Madras in April, 1919, about the time of the annual exodus, took over charge and left for Ootacamund and within a few months had to tackle one of the biggest famines in the Ganjam District through which he made an extended tour in August, 1919. As a preliminary to the inauguration of the Reforms, pushed through, with the help of the Hon'ble Diwan Bahadur Sir P. Rajagopalachari, a series of legislative measures to broadbase Local Self-Government on an enlarged popular franchise and to transfer larger powers to local bodies from the hands of executive officials. During just over two-and-a-half years in this Presidency, has seen practically all the districts and has acquired an intimate knowledge of problems of rural and urban administration. No scheme for the promotion of moral and material welfare of the people has failed to receive active support from him. The Health Welfare movement started on the eve of Lord Pentland's departure has now been reorganised and put on a sound basis and in this work Lady Willingdon has taken unceasingly zealous interest. Notwithstanding influences at work adverse to peaceful and progressive administration, by his personal popularity with all classes and creeds of the community, has carried on the government of the Province with singular smoothness.
